PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

- ◆ The University of Arkansas has a rich history in master's-level athletic training education and has been accredited since 2005.
- ◆ The program focuses on creating patient-centered and evidence-informed healthcare providers who can serve as advocates for their patients both on and off the field.
- ◆ Clinical placements are possible in diverse settings including universities, secondary schools, physician and therapy clinics, professional sports, and emerging settings.
- ◆ The program has a high average, first-time pass rate on the Board of Certification exam over the past 10 years.
- ◆ We have excellent job placement of graduates at universities, high schools, in physician's offices and with professional sports leagues and government agencies.
